TEAMSTERS ASK FOR AGREEMENT

Employers Asked to Pay Minimum Union Scale—No Discrimination.

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 3.—Officials of the teamsters union, which has been on strike here since Sunday night, began a concerted effort today to get employers to sign a tentative agreement. It is binding for only ten days and the only demands are that the employers pay the minimum union scale and not discriminate against union men.

Eugene Luttig, 18 years old, was shot in the leg when a crowd attacking a coal wagon was fired on by strikebreakers on the wagon.

J. H. Mason, the negro who was shot through the abdomen yesterday by special officers, died this afternoon. This makes the second fatality during the strike. Claud Lewis having been killed at the time Mason was shot.

CROSS MEETS VICTOR IN TUESDAY'S MATCH

Los Angeles, Dec. 3.—Apparently giving up hope of enticing Joe Rivers into another ring engagement in the near future, Sam Walsh, manager of Leach Cross, today notified promoter McCarey that Leach would accept the Pacific Athletic club's offer of a New Year's date to box the winner of the Anderson-Barriau fight next Tuesday night. Cross has a knockout over Anderson to his credit. Cross, of course, would prefer a return match with Rivers, but the Mexican lightweight is hot after Willie Ritchie and unless the champion refuses to give him a battle there is not much probability of Cross and Rivers hooking up again. Ritchie has informed Rivers he will give him a reply after his bout with "Harlem" Tommy Murphy.

Cross will not go to San Francisco to attend the Ritchie-Murphy scrap Wednesday night, but will be at the Vernon ring-side on Tuesday night to see his two prospective opponents in action.

According to reports from his training camp, Anderson is working well and is in tip-top condition.

UTAH STUDENT IS ATHLETIC SENSATION

Warren Stratton, one of the University of Utah students who was presented with a Rhodes scholarship, has won honors at Oxford university. England. Stratton has been proclaimed a decidedly clever athlete by the Brits, who give him the honor for the victory of the Lincoln College of Oxford, in the annual class boat race. Stratton handled the stroke oar.

Stratton never took part in athletics at the Salt Lake high school or University of Utah and the news will be a surprise to many of his friends. He is studying law at Oxford and reports say that he is giving a good account of himself in all his classes.

MERRILL HAS RETURNED.

Provo, Dec. 3.—City Physician H. G. Merrill has just returned from a tour of seven months in Great Britain and on the European continent. His time was spent in visiting hospitals and medical colleges, and he says that he gathered much useful information.

REMARKABLE FLIGHT OF AVIATION

Rheims, France, Dec. 3.—Jean Bie, aviator, the Peruvian aviator who flew across the Alps in January this year, made a remarkable flight here today. Turning the nose of his monoplane upward, he ascended, 3600 feet in two minutes, 30 seconds, making an almost vertical spiral.

SCHOOLS START AN EGG BOYCOTT PLAN

Chicago, Ill., Dec. 4.—Pupils in the public schools have joined Chicago women club members in the egg boycott, by which it is hoped to reduce the price of eggs to 32 cents a dozen. "No egg" pledges were distributed among the pupils in the Fiske school yesterday.

It is said there were many signers and that more pledges will be circulated today in other schools of the city.

There was a drop of 1 cent in the price of eggs on the Chicago market and egg board yesterday.

Eggs Being Advanced.

Pittsburg, Dec. 4.—In face of the fact that agents of the department of justice are here to investigate the cause of the high price of eggs, quotations for "selected" eggs, as the Pittsburg Butter and Eggs exchange terms them, were advanced today from 45 and 46 cents to 50 and 52 cents a dozen. Dealers declare this is because eggs to bear the name of "select" must not be more than a week old. Alleged price fixing by the exchange is one of the things the government's agents is investigating.

Kansas Egg Boycott.

Kansas City, Dec. 4.—Placing of a boycott on eggs in every home in Kansas City was the announced purpose of a mass meeting of practically all the women's organizations in the city called today by the Kansas City Housewives' league. The women sought to place a bar on the home consumption of eggs until the present retail price of 40 cents is reduced. Mrs. Willard Q. Church, president of the local housewives' league, was chairman of the mass meeting.

WILL GIVE CHARITY BALL

Brigham City, Dec. 3.—Preparations are complete for the big annual charity ball to be given this evening by the Civic Improvement club of this city. The ball, to be given at the hall in the Academy of Music, is for the purpose of raising funds with which to aid some of the poor folks of the city prior to the Christmas holidays.

LOPEZ MAY HAVE MADE HIS ESCAPE

Opening From Minnie Mine to Yampa Tunnel Known to Exist.

Bingham, Dec. 4.—With the discovery yesterday of a possible way in which Lopez might have used the dynamite fuse in the Apex mine to escape, the belief that the Mexican has escaped is growing hourly. Nevertheless, the smudging is being continued and will be until the smoke backs up enough to smother the fires for lack of oxygen. Experts say this will take twenty-four hours longer. The secret of whether Lopez is entombed or far from his pursuers will therefore be sealed behind the massive bulkheads until tonight or tomorrow morning.

It was learned yesterday that there is a shaft 150 feet long leading from the 700 level to what is known as the 1200 level, but which is in reality slightly above the Parvenu or 1100 level. Lopez has had two days and nights to devise a means of getting down the 150-foot shaft into the lower part of the mine, from which he might devise a means of getting out on duty.

Owing to the fact that large amounts of fuse were known to be in various parts of the mine, it is believed that the clever outlaw might have used it to lower himself into the 1200. Patrolmen W. H. Hendrickson and William Domm of Salt Lake tested out the fuse yesterday and found it would easily burn the weight of a man. In any event there would have been plenty of the fuse so that Lopez might have twisted two or three strands together.

After Lopez did the shooting in the Andy tunnel Saturday, when the guards behind the incline made the dash out of the tunnel after shooting on the line, Lopez would have had time to slip down the incline, past the Andy tunnel and on down to the 700 level. This level was not bulkheaded until Monday, giving the bandit forty-eight hours' start while his pursuers thought he was in the upper part of the mine.

All of the noises heard in the mine at various points can be accounted for in other ways except the statement of Deputy Sheriff C. L. Schettler, who claims to have heard Lopez call "Julius." Last night Schettler persisted that he had heard the call distinctly. If this is true and Schettler is not mistaken it is probable that Lopez is still in the mine, because at that time it was thoroughly bulkheaded.

The shifting of the timbers in the Parnell portal Sunday afternoon has been found to have been caused by melting snow. The melting snow shifted some dirt and this in turn moved the timbers slightly. Those who have worked in the mine say that it is full of rats, some of which are very large. It is believed that the sulphur fumes made them unusually active, and running over the gravel in many places, the noises might easily have been taken for Lopez.

It is also possible that Lopez may have reached the lower portions of the mine, but did not leave it. However, he must have heard the bulkheads being built and realized that he must get to freedom quickly. More than a dozen guards expressed their belief yesterday that Lopez had escaped.

Added to all of this are persistent offers in Bingham to wager that Lopez will not be found in the mine, either dead or alive, when the bulkheads are removed. This betting is thought to have been started by foreigners, perhaps admirers of Lopez, and this, together with the facts advanced yesterday has strengthened the belief in the theory that the man has escaped.

In any event, the problem will not be solved at least until tonight and possibly until tomorrow.

Not in Stampede.

The marksmanship of Lopez and the statements of those who knew him, that the Mexican had at one time been a well-known rider, caused the belief in Salt Lake yesterday that he might possibly have been a member of the company of cowboys who took part in the "stampede" in this city last July.

Investigation last night, however, revealed the fact that but one Mexican took part in the performances, and that man was Maurice Valdes, the man who lives on the McIntyre ranch, west of Eureka. Another member of the stampede company and who was at one time employed at McIntyre ranch said last night that he was positive that Valdes was the only Mexican who took part in the wild west show.

The mine will not be opened until the smoke being forced into it backs up and smother the fires. This will indicate that there is no oxygen left in the mine, making the existence of human life impossible. This was the statement of Sheriff Andrew Smith, Jr., tonight.

Mining experts believe that it will take at least twenty-four hours longer to accomplish this plan. It is possible then that the work of opening the bulkheads may start late tomorrow night or early Friday morning.

Yesterday was the most uneventful day of the entire hunt. The fires were kept burning and the guards were kept at the portals of all the tunnels. Otherwise there was little activity. County Attorney E. Willey visited Bingham today to investigate charges that the expenses were higher than was necessary.

When they concluded their conference with Sheriff Smith and their inspection of the operations being carried on, they expressed their satisfaction. During the past forty-eight hours, since the mine has been bulkheaded, Sheriff Smith has been able to cut down the force to fifty-eight men, having let out eighty special deputies.

County Attorney Willey said that the county could not be held responsible for any damage through cessation of work in the mine or for the salaries of the 225 miners who are idle while the works are being smudged. He said that police powers were given by law which permit the sheriff to take such steps as he considers necessary.

The county commissioners and county attorney returned to Salt Lake this afternoon. Ex-Sheriff M. M. Bush of Tooele, who made a thorough investigation of the reports of the guards at the bulkhead Lopez there yesterday morning, is convinced that the reports were true. Sheriff Bush believes that Lopez will be found dead or alive near guard at that point are expert miners and agree with Sheriff Bush.

The Andy incline runs down to the 700 level from the Andy tunnel and enters the 700 level at a point just inside where the bulkhead has been placed. It is thought that Lopez might have slid down the ore chute and in that case he is trapped, as the incline is too steep for him to return.

The draft at the bulkhead is an inward one, and it is possible that by keeping low, where the fumes of the fire built just outside would not reach him as they enter the top of the bulkhead, Lopez might have kept alive. However, some of the guards believe that it would have been impossible for Lopez to have remained in such a position for two days. All agree, however, that if Lopez is there he is in a trap from which he cannot escape.

Jack Phillips, a brakeman on the Bingham & Garfield railroad, declared today that there is a tunnel connecting the Yampa and the Apex mines. He says that the tunnel is about two-thirds filled with dirt, but that Lopez could crawl to the top and get through. He believes, Lopez might easily have joined the Mexicans in the Yampa mine and walked out of it in safety.

Both the superintendent of the Apex deny that there is any connection, as do all the miners who work in either property. Little credence is given Phillips' statement here, despite the fact that he insists that he is familiar with both mines.

Italian Tells Different Story. Bingham, Dec. 4.—That Lopez first visited Mike Stefano in his cabin near the mouth of the Minnie tunnel on Tuesday night instead of Wednesday night, was the statement made by the Italian to Sheriff Andrew Smith yesterday. It was corroborated by Julius Corrello. According to this story, Lopez must have got into the mine before daybreak Tuesday morning. He would have had to travel twenty-three miles from the north west side of Lake mountains to the mine Monday night.

Stefano told the sheriff yesterday that Lopez first visited him about midnight. Stefano said that Lopez told him that he (Stefano) was his friend and that he should go down and tell Julius Corrello to come up and see him. Stefano said that Lopez told him to have Corrello bring up medicine, money and supplies and come into the mine. Then he went to his hiding place.

Stefano said he went down and told Corrello the next morning and that Corrello said, "No, Raphael is a bad man. He has shot three good men and I will have nothing more to do with him."

Stefano said he carried this message back and reported to Lopez when he came out Wednesday night. It was then, Stefano said, that Lopez took the blankets and food in with him. The next day, Thursday, Stefano reported the matter.

Discuss Opening Mine.

Bingham, Dec. 3.—Just how to get into the mine most quickly and safely when the bulkheads are opened is a matter now being discussed by the men in charge of the work. It is known that the sulphur fumes will hang in the mine for some time and in places where the outer air did not penetrate quickly might be dangerous to those who enter.

It is probable that the men who go in will have their noses and mouths covered with wet towels. Lopez will probably be tied around their bodies and a signal system, arranged so that they can give warning if they feel the fumes getting the best of them.

There is an oxygen apparatus manufactured for just such work, which is very similar to the kind used by sea divers. The difference is that instead of a long hose to the surface the helmet of the mine suits is supplied with oxygen from a tank carried by the wearer. The supply of oxygen carried will last from one to two hours. However, so far as known there is no apparatus of this kind in Bingham. If possible, one of the machines will be brought here for the search work.

Real Estate Transfers.

An aeronautical map of the entire world on a scale of one to 300,000 was planned at the recent international geographical congress at Rome.

NOT REDUCING COST OF LIVING

New Tariff Has Failed to Bring Down the High Prices.

Washington, Dec. 3.—The resentment of Republicans and the desire of several senators to talk about various subjects prevented a vote again today on the Kern caucus resolutions for protracted daily and night sessions beginning at 10 o'clock in the morning until the currency bill is passed.

Republicans have held the whip hand for three days, and proved to the Democrats that their program is not so easy as they thought it might be. When the resolution went over again this afternoon, they appeared to be satisfied, and Senator Gallinger, Republican leader, said the resolution might come to a vote tomorrow. Meanwhile, however, the senate went ahead holding night sessions.

Currency was mentioned today only in the most incidental fashion. The day was occupied with Hetch Hetchy principally, although there was a brief and characteristic Republican outbreak against the new tariff law. When Senator Gallinger asked the Democrats if they wanted to jam currency through in order to keep their promise that currency legislation would help the tariff bill to make times good, the Republican leader touched upon the tariff to say:

Platform Promises.

"The Democratic platform promised to reduce the cost of living. One Democrat on this floor in debate said that the Republican tariff had placed a burden of $400,000,000 on the people that the Democratic measure would lift. May I ask my Democratic colleagues what they now have to say about the high cost of living and the amount by which it has been reduced? Do they expect the currency law they are to enact to perform according to their promises, as their tariff bill which has failed to maintain any promise made?"

Senator Gallinger read from numerous newspaper clippings to show that the recent Thanksgiving dinner was them out expensive the American people have had in twenty-five years. He read from New England newspapers to prove that Canadian meats shipped across the line and admitted free of duty, instead of bringing down the American prices, had at once gone up to the domestic level without benefiting the consumer one penny.

Gronna's Fling.

Senator Gronna of North Dakota also had his fling at the Democrats. He showed from price quotations that within a few days after the tariff went into effect the prices of cattle when purchased from the farmer had dropped from 1 to 2 cents a pound, but the price of dressed beef to the consumer had gone up. The same was true, he declared, in barley and other cereals.

"The farmer in practically everything he raises since the Democratic tariff gets less for his product and the consumer is paying more," declared Senator Gronna.

"Yes," observed Senator Gallinger, "this great platform for all our life is not working out as it was hoped at the time and as our Democratic brothers hoped it would work. There was something wrong about that Democratic prediction and I venture to say now that the Democratic prophecy in connection with their currency legislation will not come any nearer being true."

Republican Progressives today had a lot of fun with Democratic senators when they called up President Wilson's recommendations for a presidential preference primary and began to prod them as to when they would report such a measure to the senate. It is no secret that the plan of the president has always been unpopular among the Democrats of the senate. Any bill even indirectly pointing in that direction has been smothered to death and Progressives keenly enjoyed themselves today.

ENVY INCITES WOMEN TO ACT

Woman Who Was Ridden on Rail by Six Neighbors Testifies in Court.

Waukegan, Ill., Dec. 3.—Mrs. Minnie Richardson, who testified yesterday to having been ridden on a rail by six of her woman neighbors of the Hamlet of Volo, near here, was cross-examined today.

Mrs. Richardson testified that the action of the women assisted by one man, was prompted by envy. Her husband, although a cripple, keeps the general store at Volo and his wife was spared some of the drudgery of her neighbors and is said to have shown brightest among them wearing a riding dress.

Among the incidents which aroused the resentment of the other women of Volo was the buggy riding of Mrs. Richardson with her brother-in-law, William Dunnill.

LIMITATION CLAUSE WILL BE ENFORCED

Railroads cannot waive the four months' limitation clause in the new universal bills of lading, according to a decision reached at the conference of railroad attorneys at Chicago recently. Pursuant to this decision railroads all over the west are sending out notices to all their agents that under no circumstances can a claim be considered later than four months after it arises. Heretofore agents and railroads have been waiving this feature of the bill of lading in order to procure shipments over their lines. The interstate commerce commission decided last October that the clause was a part of the bill of lading and that no part of the bill of lading could be waived by the railroad company.

At the Chicago conference of the attorneys it was thought that the clause could be waived after shipment took place and claims which were more than four months old could be paid, providing the railroad company desired to make the disbursement. The attorneys decided that this was a subterfuge and should not be tolerated and that the railroads should live up to the decision of the interstate commerce commission.

Hereafter any claims arising for damages to freight in transit or on station platforms or either actually or constructively in the possession of the transportation lines, must be filed with the proper officer of the railroad within four months from the date the liability accrues or the clause of the universal bill of lading will be enforced and the claim ignored. Suit cannot be instituted to collect the amount as acceptance of the bill of lading completes the contract and outlaws all claims for damages not presented within four months, the attorneys held.

The Union Pacific system, the Oregon Short Line, the Gould lines are sending out circulars to their agents informing them that they must not waive or attempt to waive the time limit liability clause. It was held by the railroad attorneys that the clause was and is a part of the published tariffs, as it had been classified and attached to the western classification tariffs. Owing to this, the clause could not be waived in any instance. Violation of the ruling will render the railroad liable to fine for discrimination in the payment of claims.

A call has also been issued by the general offices of the railroads for agents to forward all claims to the claim agents and attorneys at once so that claims arising prior to December 1 can be paid and the claim departments started on the new basis January.

PROSPERITY IN THE NORTHWEST

New York, Dec. 3.—Colonel W. P. Clough, chairman of the Northern Pacific railroad, arrived here today after making an inspection trip over 8500 miles of the road, and declared that the public cry for lower freight rates is not as insistent as a year or two ago.

"The people in the northwest seem well satisfied," he said. "Farmers are putting up better buildings, increasing their livestock and building larger silos. They do not expect depression in their business and there is every sign of prosperity there."

"The rumor that the Northern Pacific will acquire the Erie has no basis of fact. Such a transcontinental line would be so unwise as to make it unprofitable."

New York, Dec. 3.—James J. Hill, who is in New York to purchase Christmas presents and to attend to certain business matters, said today: "People in the northwest feel pretty optimistic and there are no great signs of depression there. Of course, retail trade is slowing down on account of warm weather and people are not buying as much as they might. Because prices are somewhat lower than last year farmers are not selling a great deal of grain. They have enough funds to hold out until better prices prevail."

TO INSTRUCT IN RAT CATCHING

Provo, Dec. 3.—T. A. Torrey, the professional rat catcher of Toronto, was before the city commission this evening. He explained methods employed in coast cities for suppressing the destructive rat and offered to assist in their extermination in Provo. While the commissioners have little money available for such purpose, it is probable that the expert will be engaged to instruct a couple of local men in his methods.

GENERAL DIAZ PUT ON ACTIVE LIST

Mexico City, Dec. 3.—The war department today published an order transferring Porfirio Diaz from the retired list to the active list. The order bears the date of September 20.
